Our Conference

Think About! is a tech conference which focuses not only on technology but also on design and their social impact. It creates a safe and inspirational space for everyone, and we really mean everyone.

Our belief is that society needs diversity in order to continue a healthy and critical dialogue. For this reason we want to bring together diverse individuals and enable them to challenge themselves and each other.

Our Keynote Speakers include:

LINDA RISING lindarising.org

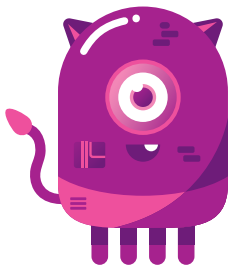

Linda Rising is an internationally known presenter on topics including patterns and agile development. She is the author of numerous articles and books, the latest “More Fearless Change”, written with Mary Lynn Manns.

ARAL BALKAN & LAURA KALBAG ind.ie

Aral Balkan and Laura Kalbag are Ind.ie, a not-for-profit striving for social justice in the digital age. They design and build ethical alternatives to mainstream technology, wrote the Ethical Design Manifesto, and built Better – a tracker blocker for the web.

TRACK 1

Think About Technology!

Technology has become a part of nearly every aspect of human life. We will present quality talks from domain experts in software development, hardware and software hacking, internet of things, artificial intelligence and many more.

TRACK 2

Think About Design!

Nearly everything we use today is designed – whether it's an app to monitor a menstrual cycle or self driving cars. Beside others we will cover topics such as design ethics and product and UX design.

TRACK 3

Think About Society!

Technology & design continue to shape humanity as a whole. Topics like discrimination, social and economic equity, and participation in our society are more important than ever. We want to create a platform to talk and discuss these topics.
